

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to FORCE their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation. The public airwaves should not be used for this purpose.

The right thing is for Sinclair to show a pro-Kerry program like "Going Upriver" shortly after, or to suppress the broadcast of "Stolen Honor".

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
